

'Doves' Give Up Hopes

Don't Think LBJ Can Start Peace Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The doves among Senate Democrats have about given up hope that President Johnson can initiate Vietnam peace talks before they have to face the voters in 1968.

A cross section check indicates that most of them expect decisions growing out of the just-concluded Guam conference that will intensify military efforts. This, in their opinion, will make it more difficult to get any negotiations started.

Their hopes that the administration's pacification program in South Vietnam might produce a slowdown in the fighting were jolted by a first hand report from Prof. George Kahin, head of Cornell University's Southeast Asia program.

Kahin, coauthor of a book on Vietnam who just returned from Saigon, was quoted as telling 18 Democrats and three Republicans at a closed luncheon Monday that the program thus far has been "an utter failure" because it provides for no land reform.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who supports Johnson's general course in Southeast Asia, said that pacification will be "no easy chore" and may take years.

Kahin was depicted as assailing the proposed new constitution for South Vietnam.

Major Money Bill Passes State House

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri House passed its major money bills today in a scant 26 minutes.

There was no discussion as the bills, carrying $1.1 billion in state and federal funds to run the Missouri government for the coming fiscal year, were whipped through on successive votes.

All the wrangling came earlier when the bills were first debated. The Appropriations Committee beat back all but a couple of minor amendments and the figures proposed by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes remained virtually untouched by the House.

At the close of the action Rep. E. J. Cantrell, D-St. Ann, appropriations chairman, told the House it "has just passed bills totaling '$1,106,207,013 — or thereabouts.'" He stumbled once in trying to report the figures.

Needs More Study

No Approval For 'War On Crimes'

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—The Florida Cabinet declined today until further study to approve a controversial "war on crime" Gov. Claude Kirk wants to wage with an army of private detectives and private money.

Kirk, irritated at first by the prospect of a delay, later said he was delighted to agree to a two-week postponement, while the legal aspects of his unique plan are examined.

The governor, first Republican in the Florida's highest office in nearly a century, still did not disclose the names of private donors to his crime war chest. Nor did he say how much he has collected.

The only issue before the all-Democrat Cabinet today, he said, was "the mechanics" of disbursing the funds.

Before the meeting, Kirk's aides said he would name the contributors and answer questions.

The Cabinet session comes seven days before a special election to fill the entire reapportioned legislature. None of the Cabinet members, elected statewide, are involved with Republicans who elected their first governor in 94 years last November have an unprecedented number of campaigners for House and Senate.

A showdown on Kirk's crusade could be avoided if the Cabinet members choose. They could name a committee to study the proposal and that would delay action until after the election or provide a respite in which to work out acceptable conditions for establishment of the fund.

Kirk, 41, whose gubernatorial campaign bristled with promises to drive crime out of Florida, dropped a bombshell during his Jan. 3 inaugural speech by announcing he had engaged the Wackenhut Corp. investigative agency to wage war on crime and that he was inviting contributions from individuals and organizations. He said the agency's duties would include checking backgrounds of candidates for appointive office.

The unorthodox approach to crime fighting quickly drew cries of "gestapo" and "Wackencops" and the like from some critics.

Modernize Broadway Traffic Lights

Election Ordinance Given Passage By City Council

By D. Kelly Scruton

The City Council, Monday night, passed an ordinance calling for the General City Election on Tuesday, April 4, naming candidates seeking election, naming the judges of election and the location of the polling places. Another important ordinance authorizing the mayor to enter into a contract for the city with the State Highway Department over changing traffic signals and installation of traffic safety islands on Broadway was passed.

The highway ordinance calls for modernization of the traffic lights at Grand, Ohio, Massachusetts and Engineer, with a new installation at Kentucky. Traffic safety islands are to be placed on Broadway west of Kentucky, on Broadway at Grand, and at Engineer.

Regional Planning

A resolution was also passed by the Council indicating the city would participate in the newly organized Regional Planning and Development Commission. The commission is comprised of Lafayette, Johnson and Pettis Counties and Communities and cities within those counties.

Mayor Ralph Walker, in remarks made under Good Will for the City said the government was using Regional Planning and Development as a "quote, 'Blackmail scheme' unquote." He commented that the program does have its good points, but the manner in which it is being presented is the most ridiculous thing "I ever saw."

The mayor said, "But we have got to go along with the program if we expect to obtain federal monies which we need badly. I do not condemn

Rate Hike Rumors Are Squelched

Rumors of Cablevision seeking an increase in rates and charges of installation apparently were settled at the City Council meeting Monday night. No changes in the contract will be made in accordance with a unanimous roll call vote.

William F. Brown, local attorney, arose when Mayor Ralph Walker asked, under Good Will, if anyone in the audience had anything to say.

He told the Council he was interested in a problem regarding Cablevision and he felt the only place to get the answer was "here", referring to the Council. Brown asked several questions starting off with, "Has Mr. Beatty met with the mayor and the Council with reference to making changes in the rates?"

Mayor Walker answered he had and it was a unanimous agreement there would be no reduction.

Brown then queried, "Did Mr. Beatty talk to any member of the Council about rates?" Councilman Ray Simon spoke up and said he had talked to him and at that time "I told him I was not in favor of any reduction," Simon said.

Simon then went on to say, "I want this for the record. When the firm bid on it they had what we thought was the best bid. As long as I am in the Council I'll never vote to lower the rates or to make any changes in any fees."

Councilman Walter Jesse spoke up and said "I'm getting a little bit tired hearing about cable TV. We didn't ask them to come to town, but they did and their bid was accepted. We didn't ask the people from Columbia to buy it out."

Continuing he said, "The Council went on record when Mr. Beatty and some gentlemen from Columbia appeared before us at a business session, and it was unanimous not to make any changes."

"I move Council now go on record in regular Council meeting that we do not favor giving them any change in the contract whatsoever. I want a roll call vote."

Then when a vote was called, Askren asked if it could be explained a little better, and Councilman Jones said, as a new Council member, he had never seen the contract and would like to look at it first.

Jesse changed his motion to read: "The contract would remain the same, free hookup, $4.50 per month charge and 10 per cent of the gross or $5,000 annually, whichever ever was the greater."

On the vote all eight Councilmen, Askren, Schumaker, Snavely, Jesse, Jones, Simon, Miller and Dugan voted in favor of the motion.

Brown had no more to say on the subject.

the program, but it is being poorly presented at present."

Attending the meeting were Mayor Bob Seivie, LaMonte, and M. L. Wade, LaMonte, who told the Council they are looking to Sedalia for guidance.

An ordinance vacating a five foot 32-foot strip of land on the north side of Pacific from Kentucky to Monticau, for the purpose of giving the MFA an opportunity to expand was passed. The ordinance calls for the land to be returned to the city if and when the company should ever cease to do business in Sedalia.

Talk Is Premature

No Quick Viet Peace Is Seen

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge returned tonight from the Guam conference with President Johnson and said he saw "absolutely" no immediate prospect for peace negotiations to settle the Vietnam war.

"All that talk is premature," Lodge told newsmen, "and it will also be that for a long time."

Asked about a new peace proposal which Nguyen Van Thieu, South Vietnamese chief of state, said had been made to Hanoi, Lodge said Thieu's announcement was not a new one and that a news story about it had been published in the Philippines several days ago.

To a newsmen's query if he saw immediate prospect of peace, Lodge replied: "Absolutely not."

Returning with Lodge from the Guam meeting were Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Vietnam, and Robert Komer, special presidential assistant who has been assigned to work on the pacification program here.

Lodge described the Guam conference as "very useful" and said it was "not the type of meeting that has a lot of big, bold, new proposals."

He said the outstanding event of the meeting came when Premier Nguyen Cao Ky presented President Johnson with a copy of South Vietnam's new constitution. Lodge said the presentation was "something no one expected" and "made quite a big impression."

Of the Guam conference it self, Lodge summed up by saying "I would say it was a useful stock taking."

Thieu said on his return from Guam that South Vietnam had invited the North Vietnamese to a peace meeting but that Hanoi has not replied.

Districts Discussion In Senate

Redistricting Plan May Solve Some Old Problems

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A congressional redistricting bill to meet the federal courts' one-man-one vote requirements hit the Missouri Senate today. Congressional redistricting efforts 19931 and 1965 both were knocked out by the courts and the new plan is hoped to solve the problem.

It was approved by a Senate committee Monday with a variation of an estimated four per cent from the population norm of 431,981.

The bill revamps the 10th District as originally proposed by Sen. Omer H. Avery, D-Troy committee chairman, and puts three townships of southern St. Louis County and Jefferson County back into the 8th District.

That would permit Sen. Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, to run against incumbent Rep. Richard Ichord, Houston Democrat. Blackwell said Monday that is still his intention.

Here is an outline of the proposed new districts under the Senate committee substitute Bill:

1st — Airport, St. Ferdinand, Normandy, Ferguson and Washington townships in St. Louis County and wards 1, 2, 3, 5, 19, 21, and 27 in the city of St. Louis.

2nd — Clayton, Concord, Creve Coeur, Gravois, Hadley, Jefferson, Lincoln and Midland townships in St. Louis County and wards 20, 22, 23, and 26 in the city.

3rd — city wards 4, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 24, 25, and 28.

4th — wards 15 and 24 in Kansas City plus Washington, Blue, Brookings, Fort Osage, Van Buren, Prairie and Sni — Bar townships in Jackson County, plus Cass, Bates, Vernon, Henry, Johnson, Lafayette, Saline, Carroll, Chariton, Pettis and St. Clair Counties.

5th — Kansas City wards — 14, 16 — 20 and wards 22, 23, and 25.

6th — Atchison, Holt, Nodaway, Andrew, Buchanan, (Please Turn to Page 2 Col. 6)

425 Bodies Counted On Battlefield In Jungle

SAIGON (AP)—A regiment of 2,500 Communists hurled human wave assaults at American positions near Cambodia today, but American infantrymen, artillery and aircraft sent the Reds reeling back with 425 bodies strewn over the jungle battlefield.

Under a blistering mortar barrage, the Reds smashed into U.S. positions at dawn, sometimes getting within hand-to-hand range.

For hours, a confusing series of fights swirled back and forth. By mid-afternoon the Red regiment was a decimated ruin, with one fifth of its men known dead and uncounted more dead and wounded being dragged over jungle trails.

U.S. headquarters said the remnants of the crack 272nd Viet Cong Regiment was fleeing toward Cambodia with a hail of air and artillery smashing down on their escape routes.

American losses in the bitter fight, which broke out Tuesday morning, were announced as 30 dead, 109 wounded and three missing.

The U.S. Command said latest reports from the battlefield had the men of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division's 3rd Brigade in hot pursuit of the Viet Cong regiment, which was putting up a scattered rearguard defense.

The 272nd Viet Cong Regiment is heavily laced with regular North Vietnamese soldiers.

It was the stiffest battle by far in the 200-square-mile area where U.S. soldiers are pressing home the biggest ground sweep of the war. The troops have stabbed deep into War Zone C in search of the top political and military headquarters from which the Communists have been directing the war in South Vietnam.

The battle took place northeast of Tay Ninh City in an area where the Cambodian frontier cuts eastward, offering the Reds an escape route only about 10 miles from the battle zone.

The U.S. Command in Saigon said the toll of more than 400 Communist dead was only an "interim report," indicating it will almost certainly go higher. In addition to the dead, six Communists were captured and 150 weapons were seized.

Over $1.5 Million

Huge Fair Allotment Over Major Legislative Hurdle

Beginning with the fiscal year in July, the Missouri State Fair will receive $65,000 more for operations than it has had for any fiscal year before, according to Rep. Joe F. Rains, of Sedalia, providing the Missouri Senate supports the favorable action taken by the House on State Fair appropriations, Tuesday.

The entire appropriation for the fair, including an emergency bill for $600,000 for construction of a new grandstand, totals approximately $1,800,000, or three times as much as any appropriation previously made for the fair for one fiscal year.

Rains said a total $554,515 had been approved by the House for capital improvements at the fairgrounds. This includes funds for a new $378,000 judging, sales barn and dormitory to accommodate activities of youth organizations such as 4-H Clubs and Future Farmers of America. Rains said the barn would be constructed for use throughout the year.

Other capital items funded include $108,115 for repair and replacements to existing facilities; $32,000 for safety improvements to the race track; and $36,300 for a new fire station, which would also be constructed for year-round use by Missouri Volunteer firemen or local firemen.

The fair appropriation bill includes $642,000 for the operation of the fair. This is for salaries, both permanent and temporary; supplies, premiums, various awards and so on. The permanent employees are those on the fair grounds year-round, the temporary ones are those who are employed weeks prior to the fair and those employed during nine days of the fair. Figures for the grandstand, capital improvements, for repair and replacements, along with the operational costs total approximate $1,800,000.

Rains pointed out that the appropriated emergency bill for $600,000 for a new grandstand was passed during the early part of the session by both the House and Senate and signed by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes. An architect has already been employed and is drafting plans and specifications.

Rep. Rains is a member of the House Appropriations Committee, which is chaired by Rep. E. J. Cantrell, of St. Louis Co. He stated he had been informed that the Senate Appropriations Committee, chaired by Sen. J. (Please Turn to Page 2 Col. 6)

Sheriff Report

Sheriff Fairfax stated that the burglars broke out a window on the back porch to gain entrance to the house. They then propped open the front door to facilitate getting the items out of the house.

Taken from the house were a china cabinet, stereo record player, television, record cabinet, silverware, an eight-day clock, dishes, a dining room table and six chairs, electric mixer, radio, and a bedspread. Sheriff Fairfax stated that the entire house was ransacked. He also stated that the entire value of the loss was as yet unknown.

In speaking of the development of the Missouri State Fair through the extensive improvements which will be made, Rep. Rains said: "It was only through the fervid interest of the citizens of Missouri, and particularly those in the Pettis County area, that brought public sentiment towards making the Missouri State Fair one of the finest, if not the best state fairs, in the United States. This, coupled with the tremendous interest and support of both Governor Hearnes and Secretary of Agriculture Dexter Davis, lent definite momentum the past few months to provide adequate funds to develop a respected state fair."

Rains praised colleagues and friends he has been working with in the House of Representatives. "Without the understanding of these legislators concerning the importance of an excellent Missouri State Fair being retained and improved, the large appropriation could not have been obtained. The chairman of the committee, Rep. Cantrell, was greatly instrumental in giving vocal support to the fair."

Rains added, "It is gratifying to know that all Sedalians realize the Missouri State Fair is vitally important to this area, this being evident by the many personal comments and communications which have come to my office."

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I recall with pleasure the people who wrote to you about how they sang at their own weddings. And then a few weeks later another group wrote to say those people had to be nuts, along with their ministers who allowed such goings on.

I discussed both columns with my friends and some were firmly convinced that you had made up all the letters because people couldn't be that crazy.

It was with delight that I showed these Doubting Thomases the front page of this morning's newspaper. It seems that in San Francisco the wedding of weddings took place. The bride wore black, the maid of honor appeared in the nude and draped herself over the altar. The "worst man" was beatnik poet, Allan Ginsberg.

The groom said his previous two weddings had been Christian ceremonies and both ended in divorce, so now he was trying the heathen route.

If anyone ever accuses you of making up letters please tell them about this wedding.—OBSERVER OF THE PASSING SCENE

Dear Observer: A person would have to be psychotic to make up all the letters that appear in this space. If I couldn't produce a legitimate column out of 350,000 letters a year, I'd quit.

Dear Ann Landers: An Orlando mother wrote to you recently and complained because the high school sent out a call for mothers to supervise students during lunch hour. The mother was indignant—said she thought it was nerve of the school to ask mothers to do the teachers' work.

I am a teacher whose lunch hour must be spent watching children, and it is a mess. I eat lunch on foot (the other teachers do the same). We supervise 180 students.

Our day begins at 8:15 A.M. and we go straight through to 3:45 P.M. without a five-minute break to powder our noses. By mid-day we are exhausted, and an exhausted teacher cannot give her students her best.

I agree with the Orlando woman that mothers should not be called on to work as volunteers. Supervising students is a real job and trained personnel should be employed by the school system to do this work.—WEST VIRGINIA TEACHER

Dear Virginia: Teachers from every one of the 50 states wrote to express their views on this subject. Almost every person who wrote suggested this solution. In my opinion it is the most logical and the fairest way to resolve the problem.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 15. My brother is 13. The problem is our parents. They were born in a foreign country and although they can speak English, they prefer their native language, even in public.

This is embarrassing. We have begged them to please talk English because everyone looks at us funny.

When we use English at home they get mad and say we get enough English with our friends. They insist that we talk in the foreign language. What is your opinion?—AMERICAN

Dear Americans: If your parents prefer their native tongue I see no cause for criticism—whether at home or in public.

You will be happy in years to come that you are able to speak fluently in a second language. Practice! Practice! Practice! You won't regret it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Soft Life Hard to Take?

One of the favorite fun games for researchers are forecasts of what life will be like in, say, 33 years from now.

The more fantastic the predictions, the more attention they get. The more attention they get, the more fantastic they become.

A fresh one just out of the forecast paints a picture of the American home in the year 2000 that makes our favorite forecaster Jules Verne, look inept.

Listen, homemakers, to what your daughter will have in A.D. 2000:

- No dusting, scrubbing or vacuuming courtesy of sonic devices which banish dirt.

- Little or no cooking, thanks to freezer microwaves ovens.

- No dishwashing, because disposable dishes will be made from powdered plastic for each meal by a machine in the kitchen.

- No ironing, since clothes will be permanently pressed.

Sounds great, doesn't it? Or does it?

Can a freezer-microwave oven turn out a meal as good as one prepared in the year 1967 by a lovely device called a wife?

And how do you think you will like eating off dishes made out of (ugh) powdered plastic?

Now, no one wants to knock the better life for womanhood. But please, Mr. Scientist, leave us a few toilsome throwbacks to the age in which we now manage to subsist.

Otherwise, we may not be able to enjoy or endure the luxuries and privileges of the Effortless Existence.

We hardy, primitive folk are used to the rigors of dishwashing and eating off china. Powdered plastic, indeed!

Conformist Of Old Now Is Hiring The Rebel Element

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — There is some indication, the executive recruiter said, that the organization man of a decade ago, the conformist who pointedly smoked the same brand of cigarettes as the boss, is now hiring the rebel.

If this is so it means an almost schizophrenic change in personality for the conformist executive. It may not be so, though. Maybe the new science-oriented businesses just need new ideas. Maybe the rebel is the new conformist.

Problems such as this have fascinated sociologists for years now as they seek to discover the magic of corporate success.

Lately there seems to be a new and critical peek beneath the veneer, a resurgence of surveying and studying and even checking the kinds of socks the successful executive wears — nearly to the knee.

What sparks today's studies is the changing nature of America's technologically oriented businesses, their growing size, diversity and demands, and the continuing phasing out of proprietary management with professional management.

This phase permits an easy contrast. The founder, or proprietor, often was adventurous, daring, gruff, dictatorial, imaginative, portly and even eccentric.

The professional manager, the man hired to run what the founder began, is careful, smooth of manner and grooming, tall and slim, a bit humorless and inclined to go by the book.

However, one personnel company that catalogues the names of 15,000 executives wishing to move up, claims to notice that today's professional managers are becoming more restless and daring.

"There has been a real change of attitude during the past five years," said William Breitmayer, president of Executive Register, "from the man who blended with the corporation to the man who really takes the initiative."

This man, Breitmayer feels, is a rebel in some senses. "He is a man ready to risk and take the consequences. He stands on his own two feet. He leads."

A quick check of corporate demands down through the ages will show, however, that businessmen always have officially asked for this type. There is some question of whether they wanted the type, however. They often demanded creativity that somehow existed within conformity.

If the model has been broken today perhaps it is, as some theorists claim, the result of our enormous technology that permits small businesses to become giants, in a decade, that forces companies engaged in basic research constantly to seek commercial uses for their products.

Survival School Made Extra Tough

SPOKANE, Wash., (AP) — There's a school near here where the final exam is 5½ days long, and a passing grade could mean the difference between life and death.

The course: survival. It's tough. But so are the problems faced by any airman coming down in a mountain wilderness, desert, or enemy-held jungles of Vietnam.

More than 5,000 airmen, most of them combat crewmen, have gone through the Air Force Survival School since it moved to Fairchild Air Force Base from Stead AFB, Nevada, a year ago.

The students range in age from 22 to 54. Rank has no privilege. Airman or colonel, each must spend 12 days in classroom lectures and practical survival training before the 5½-day trek in the northeastern Washington wilderness to put to the test what they have been taught.

Since getting out of a damaged plane often is the first problem, airmen are taught how to make a parachute landing on land or water. They learn to live off the land, and get practical instruction in the military "code of conduct."

During the 18-day course, they learn how to evade the enemy, resist brainwashing and interrogation, and how to escape. A large part of the training is classified.

The key to survival is improvisation. Airmen-students learn to find and recognize food, plant or animal, in almost any environment. They learn to find water in the desert, and how to keep warm in the arctic.

They learn to improvise a teepee in the wilderness, an igloo in the arctic, a hammock in the jungle, a hole in the sand in the desert. If they need a tool, they make it. The tools are the parachute, the survival kit and what the environment provides.

Students learn first aid and how to recognize herbs and other material with medicinal value. For example, eating a piece of charcoal can relieve diarrhea.

Each airman gets 12 hours instruction in unarmed hand-to-hand combat before he undertakes the cross-country trek through the mountain training area north of here.

The school's commander, Col. Chester H. Bohard, says its purpose is to teach airmen "to survive and return to his organization under any climatic condition." The Air Force calls this the "global survival concept." There are other schools for specialized training.

Staff Alienated By Dodd's Behavior

By DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The smokescreen sent up by John Sonnett, resourceful attorney for Sen. Tom Dodd, D-Conn., in introducing a claim that 39 of Dodd's checks were forged, raises a question which Dodd's former staff had resolved to keep out of the hearings—his alcoholism.

The only plausible explanation for the heavier lines on Dodd's signature which showed up on 39 checks was that he signed them under the influence of liquor. His staff say that in such cases the senator leaned heavily on his desk and on his pen.

This is information we have had for two years but have been reluctant to publish. Because of the unfair charges against Michael O'Hare, Dodd's bookkeeper, however, we have decided to offer the obvious explanation.

There has been no charge by Dodd's handwriting expert that O'Hare forged the checks, and no charge that O'Hare took any of Dodd's funds.

It is common practice in every senator's office to have a secretary or assistant sign letters. Thousands of letters go out from Capitol Hill every day which senators never see. And some senators give check-signing power to their assistants.

When O'Hare first joined Dodd's staff, a girl in the office, Barbara Van Trease, signed his checks, and Dodd used to joke about the skill with which she imitated his signature. O'Hare stopped this and was careful to have the senator himself sign the checks. Thousands were signed in the five years that followed, and it's interesting that out of these many checks Sonnett should pick out 39 to claim they were forged, all payable to cash or Schneider's Liquor Store. Significantly, O'Hare called the attention of the committee staff to one of Dodd's checks in their possession which definitely was forged, dated March, 1961, which was before his employment. The Senate Committee, however, did not go into this.

Dodd's Liquor Problem
To other senators it has been no secret that the senior senator from Connecticut suffers from alcoholism. Sometimes he has made this all too clear on the Senate floor. On one occasion, in October, 1963, Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican leader, reproved Dodd publicly for his long, rambling discourse on Senate absenteeism. Dodd has one of the worst committee absenteeism records in the Senate, yet entreated his colleagues to "sit longer, sit Saturdays, sit nights."

Hush Time In American Political Arena

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is tippy-toe time in American politics. The woods are full of would-be presidential candidates, not one of them willing to say boo yet.

President Johnson says he hasn't made up his mind about running again. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., scoffs at the idea he might try. And three top Republicans are rolling their eyes but playing mum.

California Gov. Ronald Reagan, busy as a traveling salesman, won't express ambitions. The always ambitious former vice president, Richard M. Nixon, won't say yes or no. And neither will Michigan Gov. George Romney, who is covering more territory than a long distance runner.

No president in this century, including Franklin D. Roosevelt, was more totally political than Johnson or relished power more. But his political fortunes are rather low: His popularity rating is down, Vietnam plagues him.

There can be no doubt he will try again, if he thinks he has a chance, particularly since he controls the party machinery, which gives him a big advantage over Kennedy, who is being talked of as a Johnson rival.

Kennedy, more distinguished in the Senate for his speeches than his legislation, manages to stay in the public eye, particularly with his criticism of Johnson on Vietnam and the American role in the Dominican Republic revolt.

Someone less sensitive to criticism than Johnson, or perhaps more politically sophisticated, might have figured that if he ignored the senator he might go away. But Johnson reacts to the needle, which helps Kennedy stay noticed.

At this stage it seems fair to ask: Just how much attention would Kennedy be getting at all if he wasn't the brother of the late President John F. Kennedy? At this time in American history Kennedy is a magic name.

But at least the two Democrats are trying to look nonpolitical this early in the game, which is not the case with the Republicans, although they say otherwise.

Monday Nixon finished a four-day trip to the Soviet Union where in 1959 he had his famous "kitchen debate" with the then-Premier Nikita Khrushchev. This time the Soviet leaders ignored him and Nixon wound up discussing Vietnam and politics with a Soviet engineer.

This was part of a world trip he is making to study foreign affairs and U.S. policy abroad, a journey which would be very helpful if he got into the presidential race. But as of now he is not saying he will try again. This doesn't mean he wouldn't like to.

For a while, after Kennedy beat him for the presidency in 1960, Nixon looked through. It was an illusion, for in 1962 he tried for the governorship of California and lost there, too. It was perhaps his worst political blunder. He must have felt finished himself.

He blamed the press for mistreatment and, after his defeat, told newsmen that was his last news conference. Within a few months he was holding them again and has been back in politics ever since.

He has approved creation of a Nixon-for-president committee while saying he has not made a decision "about my own political activities." And this week the Gallup Poll said Republican voters made him their top choice for 1968, ahead of Romney.

Romney has been acting the quiet type — but only on Vietnam and his candidacy — while otherwise talking from coast to coast a mile a minute on a high, moralistic plane.

He had made a mess of his opinions on Vietnam and won't discuss it again until he is better informed and he won't say definitely he wants to try for the White House. But meanwhile a Romney-for-president headquarters was opened here, without any public discouragement from him.

Reagan, saying less than Nixon or Romney, is covering a lot of ground while brushing off presidential talk. He made three trips to Washington within a week for public events.

Because the negative response to the artificial two club opening is two diamonds, the two club opening can also show certain strong no-trump hands. Specifically, if it is followed by two no-trump it shows a 23-24 point no-trump; if it is followed by a jump to three no-trump it shows a 25-26 point no-trump. Then the two no-trump opening shows 21-22 points and the three no-trump opening is reserved for whatever you want it to show.

He knew that his partner would lead a heart in any event and it seemed silly to signal.

Sure enough, East led the three of hearts. South refused the finesse. He could make nine tricks without two heart tricks. Then South cashed his ten of

SS Benefits Talk Topic For Charles

C. K. Charles, district manager for the Social Security Administration here, spoke to the members of the Sedalia Community Teachers Association about Social Security Saturday at Smith-Cotton High School.

Charles briefly traced the history of health, education, and social security in the United States, and presented the philosophy of social security. He explained requirements which must be met in order to be eligible for social security benefits. He further explained the workings of the social security quarter system.

Charles was introduced by Mrs. Marguerite Hansen, vice-president and program chairman of the CTA. Mrs. Hansen also introduced Mrs. Mary Louise Waldrey, music chairman, who in turn introduced Miss Cathy Binderup who played a saxophone number, which earned a "one" rating at the Marshall district high school music contest two weeks ago. Miss Binderup was accompanied by Miss Connie Cordes.

Mrs. Hansen announced that James Braden, CTA president, was attending a state meeting in Columbia of the Missouri State Teachers Association Classroom Teacher organization. Mrs. Patricia Ferrari, co-chairman of the Social Committee, announced that the spring CTA banquet will be held in the Smith-Cotton High School Cafeteria on Tuesday, April 18 at 6:30 p. m.

Mrs. Doretta Waite, MST and NEA travel consultant, stated that special Hawaiian and Missouri state tours are still available for those teachers still interested. Melvin Gulick, Chairman of the Nominating Committee, made a special report which will be officially released after the May 20 CTA meeting.

Area Men Featured On Magazine Cover

Oliver and Winfield Marshall, winners of Feedlot magazine's National Beef Feeder Award, are featured in the March cover story of Feedlot. The brothers, of Marshall and Malta Bend, were presented certificates of achievement at last month's National Livestock Feeders Association in Des Moines. They will receive engraved trophies later this month.

The Marshalls were also featured in the January issue of the magazine when they were described as "tradition breakers" for the manner in which they raise cattle to grades. Their nominations for the award came from many sources within the fed cattle industry. A five-point plan for success in cattle raising was one factor in the award being given to the brothers. This plan is described in Feedlot's March edition as a possible model for all corn belt cattle feeders.

The tendency to baldness is said to be hereditary to some extent.

Bishop Is Ready For Late Show

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This is D-Day minus 28 for Joey Bishop, and the stone-faced comic is virtually prepared for his invasion of late-night television.

April 17 is the beginning date for the Joey Bishop Show, ABC's latest attempt to storm the bastion long held by NBC. Bishop will be placed in direct competition with the nightly 90 minutes first occupied by Jack Paar and now by Johnny Carson. ABC once before attempted to compete with a show for insomniacs, with zero success.

"I'm going on for a guarantee of 39 weeks," reports Bishop. "That's the only way I would do it. With a show like this, you need time to break it in and register with the audience."

The extent of ABC's faith in Joey Bishop is demonstrated by a $2-million investment in color-studio facilities on Vine Street. The comic has set up offices there and is functioning with his production staff, several of them Paar alumni.

"The emphasis is going to be on 'live' entertainment," Bishop declared. "I have the feeling that there is an added quality when the performers and the audience know that everything is being done at that moment."

"Sure, it's easier to do a show on tape. Safer, too. You know that if you say, 'What the hell, the engineer can blip it out when the tape goes on the air.'"

"But something happens to performers when they are on 'live.' I feel it when I'm working in a nightclub and I do an ad lib that gets a big laugh. Maybe I'll incorporate it into the act, and it still gets laughs. But I never feel the same thrill as when I said it the first time."

Bishop has enlisted the usual accoutrements of the late-night show: an announcer, Regis Philbin, himself a veteran of such programs; bandleader Johnny Mann, creator of the singing group bearing his name.

The show will also feature two resident improvisationists, a pair of local comics named Jack Riley and Mark London. "I want to spotlight other new talent as well," said Bishop. "But I won't put them on for one shot only. I'd engage them for the whole week, so they'd have a chance to register."

Of course he will rely on drop-in celebrities.

Not An Experiment

Big Talent Shuffle Seen In Cincinnati's Roasters

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Pete Rose moves to left field, Deron Johnson comes in to play third base and Tommy Helms moves over to second base in the latest talent shuffle of the Cincinnati Reds.

Dave Bristol, youngest manager in the league at 33, insists the personnel shifts are in no sense an experiment.

"This is no experiment," Bristol said. "We are just trying to get the most out of three guys who have to be in the lineup. Johnson is tickled to death to get out of the outfield. Rose even suggested the move from second to the field. Helms always was a shortstop in the minors and started at second last year."

Bristol is a positive thinker. He minces no words. He is ready to take the rap if things go wrong.

"If I hesitate to move a man just because he was the All-Star second baseman or the Rookie of the Year and I knew in my heart it wouldn't be doing my job," said Bristol. "I can't worry about things not working out. I have to back up my own convictions."

The shift of the hustling Rose (.313 with 205 hits) to left gives the Reds three speedy outfielders. Vada Pinson (.288) will be in center and Tommy Harper (.278) in right. They are backed up by Art Shamsky (.231), Dick Simpson (.238) and ex-Chicago White Sox Floyd Robinson (.237).

When the Reds dipped to seventh place, 18 games back, in 1966 there was bitter criticism of the deal that sent Frank Robinson to Baltimore, where he was the Most Valuable Player, in return for Milt Pappas, a 12-11 pitcher.

When the Reds foundered, Manager Don Heckner was fired and Bristol took the job. Since the end of the season the club has been sold by Bill DeWitt to a local group.

"Certainly we missed Frank Robinson last year," said Bristol. "But he's gone. That's all there is to it. Hank Bauer won't let him come back."

Just before the training season, the veteran pitcher, Joe Nuxhall, took a blast at Pappas' lack of dedication. So did Jim O'Toole, an ex-Red now with the White Sox.

"When they both got here (Nuxhall and Pappas), I called them into a room," said Bristol. "It took about one minute. They shook hands and walked out. It is a closed subject. I think Pappas definitely will have a better year."

Pitching let the Reds down last season. They were third in hitting, fourth in homers, second in fielding but eighth in pitching.

Burdette Still Has Good Speed

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Spring isn't just in the air. There's still some in Lou Burdette's legs too.

The 40-year-old pitcher, now in his 20th year of professional baseball, made his first exhibition game appearance Monday and beat out a bunt single.

Burdette's right arm appeared to be just as strong as his legs as he worked two innings and allowed only an infield hit in California's 6-2 victory over Cleveland at Palm Springs, Calif.

In other games, rookie Mike Epstein's three-run homer gave Baltimore a 4-2 victory over Cincinnati, San Francisco outslugged the Chicago Cubs 9-6, St. Louis topped Philadelphia 4-2, Boston nipped Pittsburgh 4-3, the Chicago White Sox beat the New York Mets 7-4, the New York Yankees edged Los Angeles 7-6 and Detroit downed Atlanta 5-4.

The Washington Senators didn't play, but they got some good news — pitcher Camilo Pascual signed, ending a 28-day holdout.

The veteran right-hander, who wanted the reported $46,500 he received last season with Minnesota, came to terms for an estimated $42,500.

Marcelino Lopez worked the first five innings for California, which ended a five-game losing streak. Jim Fregosi, Rick Reichardt and Jose Cardenal each collected a single and double for the Angels.

Epstein's homer came off Billy McCool in the fourth inning at Tampa, Fla., and tagged McCool, who is hoping to become a starting pitcher, with his third exhibition loss. Frank Robinson tripled and singled for Baltimore.

Willie Mays hit his first exhibition homer and extended his hitting streak through 10 games in San Francisco's victory over the Cubs at Scottsdale, Ariz.

Mike Shannon belted a two-run homer and Orlando Cepeda got two doubles and a single in leading St. Louis past Philadelphia at St. Petersburg, Fla., for the Cardinals' fourth straight victory.

Don Lock homered with one on for Philadelphia.

Tony Horton, fighting George Scott for Boston's first base job, homered, doubled and singled, in the Red Sox' defeat of Pittsburgh at Winter Haven, Fla. Don Demeter also contributed a two-run double to the Boston attack.

The White Sox got only one hit in the first five innings off Met rookie pitcher Bill Denehy but got five unearned runs in winning at Homestead, Fla. Tommie Agee hit an inside-the-park homer for Chicago.

Veteran Whitey Ford pitched the first five innings, allowing one run on six scattered hits and Joe Pepitone collected three hits and two RBIs in the Yankees' triumph at Vero Beach, Fla. Dick Stuart singled twice and blasted a two-run homer for Los Angeles.

Atlanta got home runs from John Hoffman and Mack Jones but committed five errors in losing to Detroit at West Palm Beach, Fla.

Sammy Ellis dropped from 22-10 to 12-19. Pappas fell from 13-9 at Baltimore to 12-11. Even Jim Maloney, troubled by a kink in his right knee, fell from 20-9 to 16-8. These three, plus Billy McCool (8-8), who is moving out of the bullpen in starting status will carry the heavy load.

Bristol is high on the potential of Mel Queen, the converted outfielder, who was 7-2 in Venezuela during the winter. Nuxhall, who is 38, will get spot duty off his 6-8 record.

Bristol is looking at Ernie Broglio (2-6) at Chicago, Rolie Sheldon (5-13 at Kansas City and Boston) and Dick Stigman (2-1 at Boston) who are on minor league rosters. He also is giving 18-year-old Gary Nolan, of the Sioux Falls roster, a shot.

The loss of Ted Davidson, who was seriously injured in a shooting during the training season, leaves a hole in the bullpen. Ted Abernathy (5-7 with the Cubs and Braves), Don Nottebart (5-4) and Gerry Arigo (3-3) are the best of the bunch. Rookie Darrell Osteen (10-4 at Buffalo) may help.

The revamped infield will have Helms (.284) at second, Leo Cardenas (.255) at short and Johnson (.257) at third. First base is a battle between rookie Le May (.310 with 16 homers at Buffalo) and Tony Perez (.265). Gordy Coleman will be a left-handed pinch hitter and will play first against some right-handers.

Bristol expects a comeback by catcher John Edwards, who has taken off weight and is anxious to forget his .191 year. He will platoon with Don Pavletich (.294). Jim Boker (.232) will be the third man.

"I don't say we will win it," said Bristol, "but I do say we can win if we all have good years. Pitching is the big thing with us or any other club."

Bulls Threatening

Stage Is Set For NBA Playoff Games

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The stage is set tonight for the National Basketball Association playoffs, and the spotlight will be on such stars as Wilt Chamberlain, Bill Russell, Oscar Robertson and Rick Barry. But watch out for those guys in the wings.

They're the Chicago Bulls, and they would like nothing better than to steal the show hardly anyone thought they would be in.

This looked like the year the Detroit Pistons would make the playoffs for the first time since 1962-63, but the Bulls, in their first NBA season, pulled off a major surprise by beating out the Pistons for the fourth and last playoff spot in the Western Division.

Early in the season, Player-Coach Richie Guerin of the St. Louis Hawks said of Chicago: "They'll be lucky to win 10 games this season."

But they did win 33 en route to a playoff berth, and if they win three more, Guerin and the Hawks will be through for the year.

The Hawks, second in the West, and Bulls meet tonight in St. Louis in the first game of a best-of-five series.

Other first-round openers have Eastern Division winning Philadelphia at home against third-place Cincinnati, fourth-place New York at Eastern runner-up Boston and Western winner San Francisco at home against third-place Los Angeles.

The Bulls are led by veteran Guy Rodgers, obtained in a trade with San Francisco, who set an NBA assist record of 908 this season. St. Louis' strong point is offensive rebounding. This chore falls mainly to Zelmo Beatty, Bill Bridges and rookie Lou Hudson. Bridges and Beatty missed the last two regular season games because of injuries, but should be ready.

In the other Western games, San Francisco pits the shooting of Barry, the highest scoring forward in NBA history with 2,775 points this season, and the rebounding of Thurmond against the renowned clutch play of the Lakers' Jerry West and Elgin Baylor. However, West is hobbled by an ankle injury.

Philadelphia and Boston, the latter seeking its ninth straight world championship figure to have little trouble advancing to a semifinal series against each other.

Philadelphia beat Cincinnati eight times in nine games during the season, and the Celtics have whipped New York 19 straight times dating back to March 17, 1965.

Cincinnati will have to stop Hal Greer's outside shooting, the 76ers' strong rebounding and of course Chamberlain, who has the added incentive of never having played on a world championship team.

Philadelphia's main worry is stopping Robertson and Jerry Lucas.

New York is in real trouble against Boston. Not only are the Knickerbockers without Dick Barnett and Dave Stallworth, sidelined for the season earlier in the year, but they might not have Willis Reed for the opener. He has a strained back.

Without Reed, who leads New York in scoring and rebounding, the Knicks will have to get good outside shooting and above par performances from their remaining players to have any kind of a chance against Russell, Sam Jones, Bailey Howell, John Havlicek and the rest of the Celtics.

More Support Now For Open Tennis

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — The record showed increased support today for open tennis, the source of a controversy raging within the sport's governing bodies the world over.

In a meeting which saw tempers flare, the Australian Lawn Tennis Association voted Monday to urge a two-year trial period for open tennis.

The tennis-minded Australians voted to take the proposal before the International Lawn Tennis Association meeting July 12 at Luxembourg.

By its action, the Australian group joined Herman David, the director of the famed Wimbledon tournament, in pushing to take down the barriers preventing amateur players from playing against professionals.

Roland Punt Return Champion For 1966

NEW YORK (AP) — Rookie Johnny Roland of St. Louis was the National Football League's punt return champion for 1966, according to official league statistics released today.

Roland returned 20 punts for 221 yards and a 11.1 average.

John Robinson of Detroit had an average of 114.2 on 13 return one less than the qualifying minimum. That showing helped the Lions to the team title, with a total of 38 returns for 396 yards and a 10.4 average.

Knockout Victory

Folley's Greatest Moment Was In 1961

NEW YORK (AP) — Zora Folley's manager says the heavyweight challenger's greatest moment in the ring so far has been his knockout of Britain's Henry Cooper in 1961.

"Zora is ready now and in the same mental and physical condition for Cassius Clay as he was for Cooper," said Bill Swift, Folley's manager, today.

"Cooper had beaten Zora in 10 rounds in 1958," said Swift. "When they met again in December of 1961 in London, Zora weighed 195 pounds and was sharp as a razor. He knocked out Cooper in the second round. He was great that night. He can beat Clay."

Swift, Folley and trainer Johnny Hart are among the very few in town who believe the 34-year-old, No. 1 contender has a chance against the undefeated Clay at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night. Folley said he will weigh between 200 and 205.

Folley, a mild, stolid, modest man, almost has to be prodded to comment on the fight. He now says, "I will beat him by decision or knockout. I will be the next champion Wednesday night."

He says it as if making a memorized speech.

A pro 13 1/2 years and unbeaten in his last 12 fights, Folley has a 74-74 won-lost-draw record including 40 knockout victories. He has been stopped five times.

In boxing circles they whisper that "Folley blows the big ones. He doesn't have the heart. He'll freeze against Clay."

Newsmen put the delicate question to Folley. He didn't get upset.

"I've heard that talk," he said. "But I know I won't freeze. He's not a deadly puncher. He's not a Joe Louis. I've been in with some deadly punchers — Sonny Liston and Johnny Summerlin (both knocked Folley out) a few years back. They could really punch."

"But he's not a deadly puncher. I think I'm a deadlier puncher than he is. And I think I can punch just as fast as he does. Remember, I've scored 40 knockouts. I must be able to punch."

Clay has a 28-0 record, including 22 knockouts.

Ernie Terrell went 15 rounds with Clay when the champion retained his title on a decision at Houston last Feb. 6. George Chuvalo also went the 15 round distance with Clay on March 29, 1966, and German Karl Mildenberger lasted 12 rounds until he was stopped on cuts last Sept. 10.

Clay, half serious and half joking, said Monday after his last workout that Folley might go 15 rounds.

"I'm not a knockout fighter — I can't punch," said Clay. "All I want to do is to box and dance, be artistic and show class. That way the advertisers can get a chance to show their commercials on television."

Then, in answer to questions, he said ominously (for Folley) that his condition, mental attitude and weight would be about the same as it was for his second fight with Sonny Liston.

He weighed 206 pounds on May 25, 1965 when he knocked out Liston in the first round with one controversial punch at Lewiston, Me.

The remark was in reference to a press conference Romano called last year to air his differences with Stanky.

Later in the game when Romano took a called third strike, Stanky hollered, "Just keep talking John."

Romano then told reporters, "Listen, I like the man off the field. I just couldn't play for him, that's all. I couldn't hit to the opposite field and I couldn't run. But I like to watch his clubs play his game."

Mays Won't Talk About Home Runs

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Willie Mays shrugs off the suggestion that he may be the one to break Babe Ruth's lifetime record of 714 home runs.

"I don't even want to talk about home runs," the San Francisco Giants' centerfielder said today. He hit his first homer of the spring Monday as the Giants beat the Chicago Cubs 9-6.

With 37 last year, the Mays' total reached 542, second only to the great Bambino.

To the suggestion he might be more relaxed this spring after reaching goals expected of him in the homer department last season, Mays answered "I'm just doing the same things getting ready this spring as I usually do. At least I think I am."

"Pressures last year? Just the one, No. 512."

That was the one which topped the National League record established by the late Mel Ott of the New York Giants.

Willie equalled Ott's record with No. 111 off Jim Owens in Houston's Astrodome on April 24.

After nine trying days during which cameras trained on his every swing and newsmen crowded Candlestick Park's pressbox, Mays drove a pitch by the Dodgers' Claude Osteen out of the premises.

On Aug. 16, he hit No. 534 which tied him with Jimmy Foxx as the greatest right-handed home run hitter of all time. This time the deadlock lasted only a day as he hit No. 535 off the Cardinals' Ray Washburn.

Reaching age 36 on May 6, Mays faces a tremendous task to reach the Ruth mark, yet no one watching him this spring would term it impossible.

He hit safely in the first six exhibition games, was given a vacation the next day and came right back with hits in the next pair, two for extra bases. So it goes with the star who broke in with the Giants in 1951 as the Say Hey Kid and now rates as the club's elder statesman, the captain of the team, with a $125,000 annual salary.

Grooves Reduce Rate Of Highway Accidents

LOS ANGELES (AP) — By cutting grooves in a 900-foot section of the Santa Ana Freeway, California highway engineers have reduced sharply the number of traffic accidents there.

Edward T. Telford, district highways engineer in Los Angeles, said the Santa Ana work cost $1,837. In the 12 months before the grooves were cut, Telford said, 52 accidents occurred.

Serrating is designed to prevent a skidding effect which often causes auto tires to skid and vehicles to spin out on smooth surfaces.

New Scoring King Reigns In League

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball Association has a new scoring king — but deposed ruler Wilt Chamberlain is still sitting pretty.

Rick Barry of San Francisco became the highest-scoring forward in NBA history and ended Chamberlain's seven-year reign by tossing in 2,775 points, according to final official statistics for the 1966-67 season released by the league office today.

But, while Barry averaged 35.6 points a game in 78 games for a comfortable margin over runner-up Oscar Robertson and third-finisher Chamberlain, Philadelphia's 7-foot-1 pivotman established five all-time records in leading the 76ers to their second straight Eastern Division title.

Chamberlain led the league in field goal percentage with a .683 mark, smashing his own 1965-66 record of .540. He set a record of 630 assists by a center in finishing as the No. 3 playmaker behind Chicago's Guy Rodgers, who broke the all-time record with 908, and Cincinnati's Robertson.

Will also connected on 35 successive shots from the floor in a four-game stretch, topping his previous record string by four, and extended his mark for most career points to 23,442 in eight seasons and his consecutive-game streak without disqualification on personal fouls to 624. Chamberlain has never fouled out of an NBA game.

Robertson scored 2,412 points, for a 30.5 average, and Chamberlain had 1,956, a per-game mark of 24.1. Jerry West and Elgin Baylor, Los Angeles' 1-2 offensive punch, finished fourth and fifth, respectively, in the scoring derby.

Hal Greer of Philadelphia, John Havlicek of Boston, Willis Reed of New York, Bailey Howell of Boston and rookie Dave Bing of Detroit completed the top 10, in that order.

Chamberlain paced NBA rebounders with 1,957 for an average of 24.2 per-game. Bill Russell, Boston's player-coach, was second with a 21.0 average off the boards.

Cincinnati's Adrian Smith took the free throw title, converting 90.3 per cent of his shots from the foul line.

'Run For Your Life' Renewed

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Run for Your Life," a series about a fellow under a medical death sentence, is one of the healthiest shows in television.

Ben Gazzara's program has been renewed for a third season on NBC, and it is now fairly apparent that the only fatal disease his Paul Bryan will ever succumb to will be ratings poison, and there seem to be no symptoms of that now.

What the series could stand — and few that could not — are some stronger scripts. Monday night, for example, the hour was a meandering tale about a woman — accompanied by our hero, of course — on a long chase through a Brazilian jungle hunting a husband who deserted her.

Lots of interesting things were thrown in — a mysterious art dealer, a drunken metallurgist, some fights, considerable scenery and beautiful Dina Merrill looking sad — but at the end, they found the husband — insane — and they just turned around and started home.

While the story line was disappointing and slow moving, the series is a slick, professional job and usually pleasant to watch.

Earlier in the evening Perry Como came along with his Eastern show which inevitably had girls in ornate flower hats and songs about spring and Easter bunnies.

Fortunately Woody Allen was aboard to brighten things up with one of his monologues. It was, as usual, a very handsomely produced show.

ABC's "Rat Patrol," another of the evenings regular shows, is still having thrilling adventures winning the war in Africa against the Germans. But that African desert looks more and more like Bonanza Land. The company at midseason was pulled back to California from its foreign location, and the loss of that genuine desert atmosphere has diminished the show's impact.

CBS's Andy Griffith is the hero of the Nielsen rating list published Monday. His programs placed first and second on the ratings of shows for the two weeks ending March 5.

First was his special program, and second was his weekly series. NBC's "Bonanza," still pressed by competition from CBS's "Smothers Brothers Show," was in seventh position.

Other shows in the top 10 were CBS's "Red Skelton Show," NBC's "Jack and the Beanstalk," CBS's "Jackie Gleason Show" and "Lucy Show," NBC's "Dean Martin Show," CBS's "Green Acres," and ABC's "Bewitched."

Hunt Better After News Of Trade

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Buzzie Bavasi, general manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers, thought he'd have a little fun when he telephoned Ron Hunt to welcome him to the Dodgers.

"Are you a left-handed hitter or a right-handed hitter?" Bavasi asked the scrappy second baseman, who was at his home in Overland, Mo.

Today, Hunt remembers neither Bavasi's question nor his answer. In fact, there's nothing much he remembers about last Nov. 29, the day the New York Mets sent him and Jim Hickman to Los Angeles for Tommy Davis and Derrell Griffith.

"I guess you could say I was pretty shook up about being traded," Hunt said while walking through a light rain toward the Dodger clubhouse. "I don't remember what I said or what anyone said to me. I recall telling Walter Alston that I'd give the Dodgers my best, but that's all."

"The phone started ringing, and everyone was asking me questions. I had to get out of there so I went hunting for three days. I was okay after that. I just needed time for it to sink in."

"Everything's okay now. I went to Los Angeles for four days before spring training, and I met some of the players. I just didn't want to start all over again after I spent four years with the Mets."

Hunt, 26, is the only Met ever to be selected to start in an All-Star Game. That was in 1964, his second season in the majors, when he batted .303.

The next year, however, he played in only 57 games because of a finger injury and then a shoulder separation. He bounced back brilliantly last year, hitting .288 as the Mets emerged from the National League cellar for the first time.

Despite the fact that Hunt was the most popular player among the Mets' zany fans, he was mentioned in trade rumors for the past three years. When the rumors turned into reality, he was shook up not so much at

US Should Assume Reds Want Peace

MOSCOW (AP)—At the close of a four-day visit to the Soviet Union, Richard M. Nixon said Monday night the United States should assume that Kremlin leaders want an end to the Vietnam war. But the former vice president told American newsmen the Soviet Union would face problems within the Communist bloc if it publicly tried to bring the war to an end.

It might suit Soviet interests to have the United States remain tied up in Vietnam, Nixon added.

On balance, he said, he thinks the United States should proceed on the assumption that the Soviet Union — for reasons of self-interest — is sincere in favoring peace in Southeast Asia.

The United States should use its diplomatic initiative as much as possible to see to it that the Soviet Union plays whatever role it can in bringing the war to an end, Nixon said.

He met informally with newsmen at the end of a day that began for him in the old central Asian caravan crossroads city of Samarkand and took him back to the scene of his 1959 "kitchen debate" with then Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

At another American exhibit in the park where Nixon debated Khrushchev in a model U.S. kitchen, Nixon had another debate — this time with a white-haired Russian engineer. They discussed Vietnam, politics and other subjects.

Nixon came to the Soviet Union after visits in Western Europe on a trip that will take him to Asia, Latin America, Africa, and the Middle East by the middle of June. His announced purpose is studying foreign affairs and U.S. policy abroad.

The scene of the "kitchen debate" and the day's encounter with Russians was Moscow's Sokolniki Park. Nixon was besieged by Russians seeking his autograph, and he signed some of the programs handed out at the U.S. industrial design exhibit. The display is the latest in the series of exchange exhibits he and Khrushchev first opened in 1959.

Housewives Can Lose SS Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 59-year-old domestic worker disabled by arthritis discovered recently she was not eligible for Social Security benefits because her employers had failed to pay the required taxes.

Only after the woman showed her employment records to the Social Security Administration, which then forced her previous employers to pay the back taxes, did she become eligible.

A Social Security spokesman cited this case to illustrate what can happen to housewives who employ domestic help — such as maids, cooks, gardeners and handymen — but fail to pay the Social Security tax for their employees.

Figures indicate there may be hundreds of thousands of such employers who become liable for the unpaid taxes — currently 4.4 per cent each for employer and employee — as well as a 6 per cent interest on the amount due and a penalty of up to 25 per cent.

The employer is responsible for submitting both the employee and employer share of the tax.

Federal law requires a housewife to make Social Security contributions if her domestic employee earns more than $50 during a calendar quarter. This could apply even to the family babysitter.

"We don't know how many employers and employees should be paying Social Security taxes," the spokesman said. "But we know that in 1965, the last year for which we have figures, 1.27 million employers reported wages paid to household employees covered by Social Security."

"The total number of employees reported by these employers was 1.46 million," she added.

The Census Bureau said, however, that about 2.4 million persons were employed as domestics during January though it did not know how many of them might be earning less than $50 per quarter from an employer.

The bureau said it can be assumed that many more households than 2.4 million employ domestic help since one maid might work in several homes each week.

"We do know all employees and employers are not reported," the Social Security spokesman continued. "The housewife is not like the businessman. Even if she knows the law, she is not used to making records and often considers this a nuisance."

Larry Conrad, counsel to the

One problem confronting some housewives is the domestic lic who refuses to work if her Social Security tax is reported because these figures can be cross-checked for income tax purposes.

But if the housewife fails to pay the tax, she remains liable for it because there is no statute of limitations. And the cook or maid loses her eligibility for all or part of her Social Security benefits.

Constitution Move Is Not Anticipated

WASHINGTON (AP)—Despite recent drum-beating in legislatures, Congress is not expected to call a constitutional convention to deal with legislative apportionment.

The Constitution says Congress shall call a convention "on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states."

Thirty-two states have expressed themselves at one time or another in one fashion or another for a convention to tackle the "one man-one vote" controversy.

But there is disagreement about whether Congress would be obligated to act even if two more states ask for a convention.

For one thing, this is the 90th Congress. All but four of 32 legislatures asking a convention made their requests before this Congress convened.

It can be argued that some requests are from a legislative session no longer in existence to a Congress no longer in existence.

Those wanting a constitutional convention mostly have in mind one confined to seeking revision of the Supreme Court's "one man-one vote" decision that both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned on a population basis.

But Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said in his opinion such a convention could not be so limited.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who
